

WATER SERVICE RESPONSIBILITY

Columbia Heights provides water to its customers and maintains the water mains required to deliver water to homes and businesses.

Property owners are responsible for the connection (tap) to the water main and the piping (service line) that carries water from the main to the meter. The property owner is also responsible for protecting and providing access to the water meter.

When a problem occurs, Columbia Heights will assist the property owner with determining the cause of the problem and the appropriate course of action.
